EXPERIENTIAL MARKETING & BRAND EXPERIENCE LEADER

Experiential marketing and brand experience leader with more than a decade of experience across marketing, creative production, events and brand partnerships. With a background in photography and the arts, I bring a creative perspective to my work while keeping audience, brand and business goals in mind. I develop ideas, build partnerships and lead multidisciplinary teams from early concept and pitch through marketing, production and execution, creating experiences that are thoughtful, engaging and genuinely useful to the people attending them.

Events & Experiential Marketing Manager

Led Event Space throughout tenure since 2017; expanded leadership to include the Video Content department in addition to Event Space, 2019–2022; focused on expanding Event Space as a department and key component of B&H's new flagship store, 2022–Present.

- Lead strategy for B&H's experiential event marketing and educational programming, overseeing 25–40 monthly brand experiences, product launches and integrated activations spanning event production, video, marketing and programming.
- Rebuilt B&H's Event Space programming model into a brand-funded experiential and education platform, developing custom programs that connect partner objectives with audience needs, creator education and product experiences.
- Lead experiential event strategy and programming development for B&H's new flagship store, shaping the next iteration of Event Space, its brand partnerships and team structure ahead of launch.
- Lead brand opportunities from initial pitch through activation, consulting directly with partners on objectives, audience and budget; develop experiential packages, establish pricing, negotiate sponsorships and guide programs through production.
- Develop experiential concepts and partnerships with brands including Sony, Canon, Nikon, Microsoft, Apple, Fujifilm, ASUS, Lexar and RED, translating marketing objectives into live experiences, educational programming and integrated campaigns.
- Originated, pitched and produced B&H's large-scale NAB Las Vegas event, securing $500K+ in sponsorship funding from four partners and attracting 1,500+ attendees, establishing a repeatable commercial event property.
- Shape educational and event strategy across brand-funded experiences, selecting creators and instructors, developing programming and reviewing presentations to create useful, audience-first experiences that naturally integrate partner products.
- Oversee end-to-end production and integrated event marketing, including venues, contracts, vendors, budgets, staffing, run-of-show, on-site execution, email, paid and organic campaigns, registration and post-event content.
- Define and track KPIs across attendance, registration, engagement and digital performance; hire, mentor and performance-manage multidisciplinary teams.

Expanded Leadership Scope: Video Content Department | 2019–2022

- Took on additional leadership of B&H's video and creative production operations while continuing to lead Event Space, directing three cross-functional teams with 18 direct reports.
- Executive produced product launches and branded content across YouTube, social, digital and in-store channels, overseeing projects from creative development through final delivery.
- Managed production budgets, vendors, talent, scheduling and technical resources while developing workflows that improved collaboration and production efficiency.
- Helped grow B&H's YouTube presence to 900K+ subscribers and developed hybrid and livestream production capabilities connecting live programming with digital audiences and creating evergreen content from experiential campaigns.
